Marathon Man- and Women

Congratulations to first-timers Ben Glass, his daughter Caitlin, Cathy Puskar, and my niece, Ann Battle for completing the 2007 Marine Corps Marathon. Caitlyn and Ann had times that qualify them for next year's Boston Marathon. Ann, a third year law student at my alma mater law school, William and Mary, finished in 3 hours, 16 minutes- slightly below a 7:30 minute per mile pace! When I set my treadmill to do 1 mile at that pace, it turns into a scene reminiscent of George walking Astro on the treadmill at the end of every Jetson's cartoon- "Jane, stop this crazy thing."

All in all, my law school career and Ann's are remarkably similar- except for the fact that she is in great shape, is on Law Review, and will probably do about 25 fewer shooters than I did on her 25th birthday on May 6! In fact most of my law school classmates swear my strategy to secure employment after graduation from law school was the same strategy used by Tom Cruise's character to get into Princeton in the movie "Risky Business."

My marathon finishing friends- Conor Battle and Calvin Coolidge salute you!

"Press on. Nothing takes the place of persistence. Talent will not; nothing is more common than unsuccessful men with talent. Genius will not; unrewarded genius is almost a proverb. Education will not; the world is full of educated derelicts.

Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent."

Calvin Coolidge

I am thinking about making the above quote and photos of Conor Battle beating Bears linebacker Brian Urlacher in a tug-of-war into a full size poster. What do you think- thumbs up or thumbs down?

Bob-L Mania!

The response to my offer in the last Newsletter of free bobbleheads and "Virginia is for Speed Traps" t-shirts was amazing.

Although I extended the offer to the first 20 requests for T-shirts and bobble heads, I immediately had 31 requests in my inbox.

Also, Arthur Gary sent in a late request but included an amusing, updated version of an old excuse (which I will call "the dog ate my e-mail!"), and I decided to send him one as well. All requested swag should be in the mail by tomorrow, November 21. (If you requested a bobblehead and have not received it yet, you may want to e-mail me with your mailing address.)

The Bob-L travel contest is off to a racing start. As you can see above, he made it to the side of the track at a NASCAR event in Texas. In my opinion, Bob-L looks like he needs to loosen up a bit for the NASCAR crowd. Come on, pal, even U.Va. students have finally figured out that wearing a tie to a sporting event is a very dweeby idea & is tantamount to wearing a sign around your neck saying "I am a wussy, please kick my butt." However, Dr. Marybeth Crane, reports that Bob-L was a huge hit after he had a few Past Blue Ribbons. (Remember Marybeth, if you are going to give Bob-L drinks, I take no responsibility whatsoever if he starts shouting at you and every other woman at the race to show him your ___!)

Since last month's newsletter, Bob-L has made it to the Grand Canyon, London, and had his picture taken alongside Washington area NBC weatherman and look-alike Bob Ryan (thanks Karen Kuhn). My pregnant pal Stacey Vogel is even threatening to bring Bob-L into the delivery room with her. Why not? He has the perfect temperament for the delivery room. He is always calm and upbeat; he is guaranteed not to faint. During labor, he will not annoy you by telling you to breathe the way they teach you in those baby classes. His biggest drawback is he is no use at all in getting you ice chips.

Save the Date: April 1, 2008: The First Annual "Bob Battle Bobblehead Brunch" features dreaded The Joker Bobblehead Award!

NO LAWYER CHEAP SHOTS!

Ownership has its privileges. On April Fools Day, a tradition unlike any other begins. All Bob Battle bobblehead owners are invited to an afternoon brunch at a location to be decided, but almost definitely somewhere in Northern Virginia. In addition to a free meal (free booze is highly unlikely at this point. Come on, Donald Trump could not afford the bar tab for my bobblehead buddies), Bob Battle will award a grand prize for the bobblehead travel contest and his comedy presentation will contain pictures of his alter ego partying all around the globe.

However, Bob Battle will also present a dubious honor. Fed up with people who take cheap shots at lawyers, Bob Battle will list nominees in his March 2008 newsletter and you will get to pick the recipient of the Joker bobblehead for the individual you vote has been guilty of the most outrageous, unwarranted lawyer bashing. (Of course, since it is my award, my brunch, and my bobblehead, I reserve the right to ignore your voting and give the Joker Award to the person who annoys me the most. I learned this technique from the Virginia General Assembly when they routinely ignore the local bar vote for judgeships and put their cronies on the bench.)

BobBattleLaw.com Newsletter- October 2007

Dear Robert,

Welcome back to my semi-sporadic Newsletter. As I will explain, I have been very, very busy. First, I have no idea who that couple above looking at the computer screen together are- they came with this newsletter template. However, my employment law friends have told me that I must advise you of the following. Her hands on his shoulders at work mean he is going to get lucky. If his hands were on her shoulders at work, it means he is going to get sued!

Although I will always make good on my promise to not be like all those other boring law firm newsletters, sometimes there is some basic information I need to give you. Thus, please note the following:

New toll-free number: 866-419-7229

New fax number: 866-853-0023

NOTE: I no longer have a (703) area code number. My number in Richmond remains 804-673-5600.

Virginia is for Speed Traps T-shirt

Bob Battle wears more hats than you'll find in the Lids store at the local mall: lawyer, comedian, actor, author, blogger, teacher, tabloid model (it's true!), husband, father and T-shirt designer?

The Bob Battle Bobblehead has arrived in Richmond after a long journey from China. He has already become a favorite at many homes and offices across America. He is also starring in Internet video.

Word of caution:

Like Bob Battle, the Bob-L-Head is a fair-skinned red-head. One was left in the back seat of Bob's car on a hot sunny day & his nose & chin began "sweating paint." I know a lot of you had planned to permanently affix the bobblehead on your car dashboard for good luck, but I would advise against it. Ditto for your office windowsill. Somewhere on your desk is perfect.

CONTEST: The person who takes their Bob-L-Head the greatest distance from their home and e-mails Bob Battle a picture will win a special award. Send in your photos & they will be featured in a future BobBattleLaw.com Newsletter.

Early Leader in Contest!

Courtesy of Paul Fletcher, Bob-L made it out to Notre Dame this summer and, I am sure, (like the real Bob Battle) offered football coach Charlie Weis some unsolicited, unwanted advice on how to coach the Irish this Fall. (It is untrue that Bob-L is starting at center for the Irish!)

Requests for Bob-L-Heads:

Remember Bob-L-Heads are usually earned, not given away or sold. They are awarded to people who make me laugh and/or bring joy & happiness to my life. The easiest way to get surprised with a Bob-L-Head is to send me a client. New cases always make me happy (In fact, I am typing now with one hand because the thought of a referral instinctively makes my right hand give the "thumbs up"

As a humorous protest to Virginia's new "Civil Remedial Fees for Traffic Convictions" law which took effect on July 1, 2007 and added huge mandatory fines to the already harsh criminal designation of certain speeding offenses and made his home state the "home of the $3,550 speeding ticket," part-time comedian Bob Battle used his wit to design this protest T-shirt.

The front of the T-shirt suggests a more appropriate replacement to Virginia's state motto "Virginia is for lovers" and reads "Virginia is for speed traps!" The back pays homage to Sammy Hagar's rock classic and reads "I Can't Drive 65." To get your very own Virginia is for speed traps T-shirt, go to www.VirginiaIsForSpeedTraps.com.

FREE Bobbleheads & T-Shirts!

As I have stated above, the Bob Battle bobblehead and the Virginia is for Speed Traps T-shirts are usually awarded or sold. However, I am going to make a special offer to my Newsletter readers who have gotten all the way to the bottom of this page before hitting "Delete!" The first 20 people who reply to this e-mail and ask for a bobblehead and/or a T-shirt will get them sent for free.

Offer Expires: October 30, 2007

Thanks for the many kind words about my December Newsletter. I will continue to make my newsletter interesting to distinguish it from all those painfully dull, pre-fab legal newsletters that I immediately file in a special folder on my computer titled "Trash!"

Well the Virginia General Assembly finished up without having to go into overtime like last year. The major issue this year (which was also the issue Governor Tim Kaine seized on in winning his election) was transportation and the highways. There is agreement that it is a pressing issue, but the Republicans in the House of Delegates do not want to raise taxes and the Democrats don't want to fund the problem by taking money from state reserves. The bottom line- there will be even more emphasis on raising money by writing more speeding tickets! All those out-of-state motorists caught in Virginia's "Yankee Speed Traps" can't vote anybody out of office.

It's the Internet, Knucklehead

I know that the Clinton "War Room" had a famous sign on its wall that said "It's the economy, stupid," but my son, kindergartner Conor, told me that "We are not allowed to say that word." Wow, if "stupid" gets you a time out, I would already be on Death Row in Miss Luck's kindergarten class!

The last BobBattleLaw.com Newsletter featured an article on my new website, which can be found online at, you guessed it, www.BobBattleLaw.com

Bob Battle has multiple homes in cyberspace:

Virginia DUI Lawyer Blog

I have recently switched my blog to ClarisLaw.com from Blogger.com. The blog has already received national attention and has received far more web traffic than I had anticipated. Some recent postings on the "Virginia DUI Lawyer" were about talking urinal cakes in bar bathrooms to combat DUI's and an Ohio appellate judge citing comedian Ron White in a DUI opinion. ("Clearly Bacher had the right to remain silent, but not the ability.") To visit this blog or to subscribe to it, click www.VirginiaDUILawyerBlog.com .

MySpaceComedy site

MySpace is a social website offering an interactive, user-submitted network for friends, personal profiles, blogs, groups, photos, music, and videos. MySpace has special categories for "Music" and "Comedy." MySpace's popularity is amazing:

FACT: According to Wired magazine MySpace received more monthly pageviews than Google.

Bob Battle has added a MySpaceComedy site that you can visit at www.BobBattleComedy.com . He has recently added a fourth video clip about "Lent." Also note that his "friends" are last Newsletter's featured comedian Jeff Caldwell & this month's featured folk singers, Antje Duvokot and Ellis Paul. I will keep you posted about my MySpace experience. I will write a future article about some of the bizarre people who have contacted me, including a 17 year- old "cyber heckler." The article already has a title- "Hey, hey, you, you, get off of MySpace!"

YouTube.com

But wait, there's more. Bob Battle also has several videos on YouTube.com, including 2 of the comedy clips on his MySpace site plus a Volvo commercial starring Bob and a funny home video of Bob's cat, Shelby, swatting him in the rear as he walks by Shelby's chair.

"Relentless Pursuit" -Sneak Preview of Most Highly Anticipated True Crime Book of 2007

Everyone who had the pleasure of watching him in the courtroom knew that Kevin Flynn was an outstanding trial lawyer. In fact, he quickly rose to be chief of the homicide section in the D.C. U.S. Attorney's office and had an amazing string of convictions that led to him being named that office's top trial lawyer. I knew that Kevin was also an outstanding writer but he will now have something other than Editor-in-Chief of the Bishop Ireton High School "BI Word" at the top of his writing resume! The entire world is about to see Kevin's amazing debut which has already become the most highly anticipated true crime book of the year. My good friend, Kevin Flynn has written a true crime book to be released today (March 1, 2007) by the major publishing company G.P.Putnam's Sons. His book is already getting rave reviews from the big shots of this genre Jonathan Harr (author of "A Civil Action" -movie starred John Travolta and Robert Duvall) , George Pelecanos (best-selling crime novelist and writer/producer of HBO's "The Wire") and Ronald Kessler (prolific writer with books about the FBI, CIA, Joseph Kennedy, the Bush administration, etc.), to name a few.

In two decades as a prosecutor in the U.S. Attorney's Office in Washington, D.C., Flynn has played a key role in the types of cases that make headlines and have come to dominate television's crime dramas. There was one case, however - the gruesome murder of a mother of six and one of her daughters in their own home in Washington - whose harsh reality he could never forget. In RELENTLESS PURSUIT, Flynn recounts how he partnered with an extraordinary team of police officers in two jurisdictions to bring a brutal killer to justice. RELENTLESS PURSUIT is the story of that journey to justice, an intensely gripping beat-by-beat reconstruction of the events as they unfold -- the murder, the arrest, the trial, the verdict -- told with astonishing candor, and providing a behind-the-scenes glimpse into the life of a dedicated prosecutor. Above all, it's about healing and community, a story in which, in the end, the system works and -- for once -- justice prevails. "RELENTLESS PURSUIT is everything you want in a true crime novel, but it's all true ... A page-turning read."

-- Washingtonian, March 2007

About the Author- Kevin Flynn has been a prosecutor in the U.S. Attorney's Office since 1987 and recently served as chief homicide prosecutor. More importantly, he is godfather to Conor Battle and father of Bob Battle's godson, Connor Flynn. Because of my obvious inside connections, I was able to obtain a pre-release copy of this riveting thriller (feel free to use that quote, Kev!) and was able to work out a deal to offer the book for sale at a discount for all purchases at Amazon.com. Order Today (Release Date 3/1/07)

Almost Famous: Singer Antje Duvekot

My college roommate, Ralph Jaccodine, has become one of the country's most highly regarded music managers. His latest client is on the fast track to stardom. Her name is Antje Duvekot and I was able to see her amazing live performance at the Ashland Coffee & Tea House on February 15.

Here is an excerpt from a review of her latest album, which you can purchase above:

Just how good is Antje Duvekot? The Boston Globe picked Big Dream Boulevard as the #1 folk release of 2006, above Springsteen. I'm not sure how one could call either Duvekot or Springsteen folk, but who's to argue? The point is that Duvekot produced, with the help of Black Wolf's Ellis Paul and Ralph Jaccodine, a major league album which holds its own against and surpasses most of what is accepted as the cream of today's crop. And they did it alone, without the deep pockets which are seemingly at times the only thing keeping major labels major. God love the album that thrives on the strength of the music. Big Dream Boulevard does just that. A handful of critics have compared Duvekot to Dar Williams. Dave Marsh, former "Rolling Stone" guru, thinks Duvekot has it. Duvekot is, as Marsh says, "the whole package" and anyone who doesn't hear it one minute into the lead track, Dandelion, is stone cold.

To Purchase "Big Dream Boulevard" click here.

Folk Legend Ellis Paul at Ashland Coffee & Tea Saturday March 10

Ralph Jaccodine's first client, Ellis Paul, has earned his reputation as one of the top singer/songwriters performing today. Although he has virtually owned the folk music category in the Boston Area Music Awards for over a decade, he now lives in Crozet, Virginia.

Ellis Paul is a treat to watch live as he shares interesting and amusing anecdotes about his brilliant songs. Ellis will be headlining at the Ashland Coffee & Tea House on Saturday, March 10. To purchase tickets online, click here.

You can also purchase above Ellis Paul's new, greatest hits release, "Essentials," which contains 32 outstanding tracks. Here is an excerpt from an album review:

Ellis Paul is one of the best singer/songwriters of his generation. And for many of us he is the face of contemporary folk music—few are as smart, as literate and as poetic as Paul. He has spun his story songs for nearly twenty years now, and has eleven studio recordings (with an additional two early recordings on cassette—now available on CD) to his credit. I cannot think of another artist on the acoustic music scene who is better-loved by fans, or more respected by his contemporaries. I suspect that turning forty, having a child and putting down roots all had something to do with Paul's taking a look back at his body of work in the newly released Essentials. While Paul's 2000 Live recording captured Ellis Paul the live performer, 2006's Essentials captures Ellis Paul the artist. Essentials presents the richness, the range and the beauty of Paul's work in a double CD package. Ralph Jaccodine, Paul's longtime manager and friend, is named as executive producer. He successfully pulls together the many strands of Paul's career here. There are thirty-two songs in all—many are the originals available on earlier recordings. But this is not simply a "best of" recording. The bonuses include two new songs and eight new versions of his classic tunes, some recorded live. Putting all of the assessments aside for a moment, what impresses most is the stunning beauty of Ellis Paul's art. Just listening to the music and taking it all in - you become swept away by the songs and immersed in the stories they tell.

Bob Battle Bobblehead Update

As you can see, a final design has been approved and I am expecting the Bob Battle Bob-L-Head any day. I hope to have one in hand to present to Ellis Paul on March 10.

I love the Bob-L-Head design but my wife hates it- she thinks the nose on it is huge. I told her that it was a bobblehead; a caricature- it's not supposed to be a sculpture or fitting for Mt. Rushmore or the monuments they will someday erect to me along the D.C.

Tidal Basin and Monument Avenue in Richmond.

Anyway, always the trial lawyer, I settled the dispute over the Bob-L-Head once and for all by calling to my lap, my star witness, 21 month-old Emmett Battle. I showed Emmett the photo of the bobblehead and asked him, "Who's that?" He immediately responded, "Daddy!" The defense rests!

Thank you to all of you wonderful people who have referred clients to me. I haven't forgotten about you. Let's just say there could be a bobblehead in your near future.

Feel free to forward this to anyone you know who would be interested in any or all of the topics covered this month.

- New Website- BobBattleLaw.com
- "Mike's Bikes" Meets "Bob Battle's 'Bells' of Christmas"
- Bob Battle Pleads Guilty!

Dear Friends,

Happy Holidays. Yeah, I know, nothing says "Peace on Earth, goodwill towards men" like a picture of me with a pair of boxing gloves behind my head! Hey, if you are a trial lawyer named Battle and you can't come up with a marketing slogan using your name, it may be time to reconsider your entrepreneurial desire to be your own boss and find employment carrying someone else's legal briefs!

As I say on my website, "Virginia is for Speed Traps!" Please be careful and smart this holiday season. Recent news releases state that there will be more sobriety checkpoints and law enforcement officers on the roads this year. As the commercials say "Think before you drink." Here's my free legal advice- if you are going to have more than 2 drinks, or you are drinking something stronger than beer or wine, don't drive. Here's wishing you a safe and happy holiday season and new year.

New Website- BobBattleLaw.com

I am extremely proud of the hard work that Tom Foster and his colleagues at Foster Web Consulting and myself have put in on my new website. My goal is to provide the most useful and interesting information available on any website- especially in the areas of Virginia DUI and Reckless/Speeding cases since so many people find themselves in need of immediate help for these misdemeanor traffic offenses. Where else but on BobBattleLaw.com can you find "8 Secrets Your Prosecutor Doesn't Want You to Know About Your Virginia DUI" together with News items about holiday speed traps together with a comedy video from Bob Battle's stand-up routine!

Bob Battle is presently putting the finishing touches on a free e-book that will be available through his website titled "Is Your Virginia DUI Lawyer Asleep at the Wheel? 20 Mistakes Lawyers Make that LOSE Cases for Their Clients." This book dramatically shows that the difference between an acquittal and a conviction could rest on the decision you make in choosing a lawyer. Along those lines, Bob's e-book contains a section on "How to Choose a DUI Lawyer." There is a difference between invaluable experience and hype. This book gives you the essentials that your lawyer must have and the questions you must ask of your lawyer to assure that you will get the representation you deserve.

For the past two years, Richmond Sports Radio 910 host Mike Maniscalco has sponsored a promotion which has provided over 300 bikes to area children through the Salvation Army Christmas Assistance Program. The program is known as "Mike's Bikes" and the bikes are donated on behalf of the giver's favorite college. Maniscalco then sings the fight song of the college that gives the most bikes. This year, Richmond attorney Bob Battle has added something extra to the program. On behalf of his law firm, Robert Battle P.C., Bob is proud to donate high quality bike helmets to all the recipients of the bikes. Battle, who moonlights as a professional comedian, is unofficially calling his part of the promotion "Bob Battle's Bells of Christmas!" Bob would like to give a sincere thanks to Bell Sports Inc. for providing these high quality, National Consumer Safety Commission certified helmets at a discount price.

BIKE HELMET SAFETY TIP: A helmet will not do you any good in an accident if it is not worn properly. It should not be worn tilted back on your head. Pictured above, Bob Battle gets a thumbs down for having his helmet tilted back. On the other hand, 5-year old Conor Battle (a.k.a. Mr. Safety First- my rule follower!) gets a thumbs up for wearing his helmet correctly.

Through the personal injury area of his law practice, Bob Battle has represented clients who have suffered serious brain injuries on roller coaster rides and in car accidents. "A person who suffers a brain injury is changed for life," said Battle. "As parents, we should never let our children ride a bike or a skateboard without a quality helmet that fits and is worn properly."

Bob Battle would be the first to tell you that he would have to plead guilty to having a sense of humor- a very good sense of humor! In fact, for 18 of the 22 years that he has been practicing law, Bob has moonlighted as a professional standup comedian. Most of his clients would be stunned to hear this fact. That suits Bob Battle just fine. "On my business card, I have written the words 'Helping People in Trouble for over Two Decades' " stated Battle. "There is nothing funny about the situation my clients find themselves in when they need my legal help." When Bob Battle left the Fairfax Commonwealth Attorney's office in 1986, The Washington Times wrote an article about his dual careers. When asked about Battle's stern courtroom demeanor, public defender Carol Burney stated, "He's all business in the court room. He won't endanger the solemnity of the proceedings. We've had our battles, but we've always come back as friends, and I think that says a lot about his character."

Everyone has to deal with a tremendous amount of stress in their lives. Everyone could use more laughter in their day. Obviously, Bob Battle takes the approach that it is possible (and healthy) to take your clients' cases seriously without taking yourself too seriously. With that in mind, Bob Battle is going to develop an award for those who bring laughter into his life and display a great sense of humor. The winners will be presented with genuine Bob Battle bobblehead dolls! (Which will be arriving soon.) However, I am proud to announce the first winner of the "Bob-L-Head" or "Bobby" award at this time-drum roll please- Jeff Caldwell. This buddy of mine, a professional comedian, got his long overdue big break with an appearance on the David Letterman show, and he delivered one of the funniest routines I have ever witnessed on Letterman! Visit www.standupguy.com to watch a video of Jeff's hilarious sets on Letterman and "Late Late Show with Craig Ferguson."
